DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1 – 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

The limitations contained in Applicant's amendment dated August 30, 2006 with respect to claim 1 include subject matter which does not appear to be shown in the drawings or contained in the specification. In particular, limitations drawn to "a common ground" and/or "ground return" such as the following newly added limitations "wherein the transmitter module is disposed between a common ground and the connector module", "wherein the receiver module is disposed between the common ground and the connector module" and "wherein the transmitter module, the receiver module, and the common ground are configured to allow ground return between the transmitter and the receiver." The only ground shown is connected to resistor 123 in Fig. 1 and could not be drawn to either the transmit module 110 nor the receive module 120. Fig. 2 shows conductive lead pairs (210) or (204a, 204b) where 202 and 206 are merely disclosed as first and second members respectively (page 4, lines 16, 17 and In 22) and thus do not teach or suggest a "a common ground" and/or "ground return" and is thus considered new matter.

The Examiner notes that withdrawal of new matter limitations by the Applicant may result in reinstatement of previous rejections under the prior art contained in the Office action dated May 10, 2006.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 9, 14 – 20 and 25 – 32 are allowed.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: The prior art of record does not teach or suggest the limitations of the independent claims. "a common ground" and/or "ground return"
